OPERATION—MURDER!

THIS is a true story you are about to read. It is taken from my private files. I am not a policeman nor a private detective, just a citizen who is interested in crime.

Operation — murder, I think, is an extremely interesting case because it shows you how the police can catch a murderer with virtually nothing to work on. How they can take a seemingly unrelated clue and trace it down to the core only to connect it with their case and solve . . . But wait! I'm afraid I'm getting ahead of my story. I shall begin at the beginning.

It was a dark California night when Charles McSwine and Chris Kirkwood drove out to visit a friend who lived in the Pasadena Canyons. On their way they passed a place in the road where a small cliff jutted out squarely. It was one of the many lover's lanes in that section.

As they turned the corner the headlights swept the cliff and caught, in their beam, a hatless youth at the wheel of a black sedan.

"Funny place for a man to park by himself," McSwine remarked.

They thought no more about it and continued on to their friend's house.

But as luck would have it no one was home. Twenty minutes later they were driving back when Kirkwood suddenly cried out, "Charles, stop the car! I'm almost sure I saw a body lying where we saw that car before!"

McSwine had already backed up the car and had the headlights focused on the whole bloody scene. They jumped out and ran toward the body.

They stood there silently for a moment then Chris kneeled down. "Is he dead?" Charles asked.

Chris shuddered as he saw the bullet hole in the head of the Army Sergeant. "And how!" C'mon, let's find a telephone."

A half hour later the bizarre scene was alive with activity.

The coroner, the photographer and the deputies headed by their able Sheriff, Harvey Gordon.

"Must be from the local air base," Sheriff Gordon remarked. "Well, what did you find, Jenson?" He asked the coroner.

"Shot twice. Once in the forehead, once in the right temple. Both slugs came out behind the ears," Jenson announced.

The body was then searched. There was no wallet, but one pocket produced a letter. It was addressed to Jackie William Power which checked with the name on the dog tags that were found on the dead sergeant.

The letter simply said, "Spend this on anything that will give you the most pleasure," and it was signed, Sylvia Power.

"Sylvia Power must be the lad's mother," Sheriff Gordon told them. "She must have sent him some money for Christmas."

"Well, nothing we can do for him anymore, so let's get busy. Search the area for tire tracks and gun shells. And call those two who found the body over here!" the sheriff ordered.

He questioned McSwine and Kirkwood extensively but all they knew was, that it was a 1950 black coupe. And in the fleeting glimpse they got of the man behind the wheel, they knew that he was hatless and appeared rather young.

On those two clues which amounted to almost nothing, the police set out to find the murderer.

When Sheriff Gordon got back to his office he checked through the reports to see what had been uncovered so far. No tire tracks or empty shells had been found. The coroner hadn't phoned in his report on the autopsy yet. But it had been established that Power had been murdered in his car and then shoved out on the cliff.

That meant that the car would have blood in it and maybe the slugs cracked the glass. Sheriff Gordon sent out an alarm to have the patrolmen question all service stations and garages.

Having taken care of that he drove over to the air base to see if he could get any information on Power over there.

"Power left the base at six. And I think he went over to the officer's club for a drink when he left here," the guard told them.

The bartender at the club remembered Power. "He had a couple of drinks and left early. Said he intended to take in a movie over in town."

That was the end of the trail.

Had the killer picked up Power in front of the base? Or did he find him somewhere in town? So far only the killer knew. But Sheriff Gordon intended to find out.

When the sheriff returned to his office he found a message that a car answering the description of the black Plymouth had been found near the edge of town.

It was the car all right! A black one with three bullet holes in the glass of the right door and the front seat covered with blood.

The sheriff looked everything over and issued two orders.

"Get those license plates checked right away! And then be on the look-out for a young, hatless man whose clothes are saturated with blood! And if nothing turns up on that, check every laundry and cleaners in town for blood-stained clothes."

The sheriff then went back to his office to wait for the report of the license. It came a few minutes later.

It was a stolen car! Discovered missing nine days ago by the owner in a nearby town. It was a new car and the owner had kept a mileage record. When it was stolen it had exactly 15,000 miles on it.

Now nine days later, it turned up with 15,126 miles.

It was 90 miles from the town it had been stolen in, to this town. That meant that the car had only been driven 36 miles in nine days.

Then came the flood of questions!

Why was the car kept nine days without being run, and then used as the vehicle to pick up and slay Power?

Where had the car been kept all this time?

The theory that Power had been killed for the money his mother had sent him now seemed improbable.

The car was stolen nine days ago and the killer wouldn't have known then that Power was getting money.

Yes, it looked like premeditated murder!

Two days had elapsed and no other clue was uncovered. The killer seemed to vanish into air.

Sheriff Gordon sat in his office the next day going over the case with one of his deputies.

"I'm convinced the key to this whole case is the fact that the car was stolen nine days before it was used," he said.

"I think you're right, Chief. It shows the work of a professional. An amateur stealing a car uses it right away. A professional lets it cool off," the deputy answered.

"You take charge for the day, Bob, I'm driving over to the town where the car was found and see if I can't pick up something there," the sheriff told his deputy.

The sheriff drove into the town and straight over to police headquarters. Painstakingly he checked through all the files for that period on burglaries and stickups. Finally after going through hundreds of files he found one that he thought was very unusual.

The date was two days after Power was killed. The report said that two boys had found a complete set of burglar tools and they were wrapped in an old shirt.

"Now why would a burglar throw away his tools?" Sheriff Gordon said aloud.

The sheriff went upstairs to ask the Chief about it. He was told they checked the laundry tag on the shirt and found it belonged to a S. Allison but the laundry had no address for him.

"If you don't mind I'd like to go to the guy that owns the laundry," the sheriff told them.

He was given permission and went down to check on it.

"We ain't got the guy's address because he used to pick up the stuff himself," the laundry man told him.

"Did he come in a car?" the sheriff asked.

"No, he walked. Lived pretty close by, I think."

The sheriff immediately posted guards to watch the place.

It was a pretty slim chance, trying to connect these two cases, but he had nothing else.

Exactly one week later, Sheriff Gordon's hunch paid off.

Scott Allison walked into the laundry.

He was taken down to headquarters where he confessed immediately. In fact he seemed quite relieved to have it over with.

There you have a perfect example of the fine work your police do for you every day of the year.

WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT PIMPLES

Acne, Blackheads, and other externally caused Skin Blemishes

WHEN pimply skin is your problem, the first thing to get straight is that you can and should do something about it. To develop the attractiveness of your face is not mere vanity. It is an "open sesame" towards bringing the real YOU closer to other people and giving your personality the poise and confidence it needs. Your good qualities—intelligence, character, dignity—all go to naught... are completely cancelled out by a skin that "nobody loves to touch." Remember, the YOU that people see first is your face.

SKIN PROBLEMS DEMAND IMMEDIATE CARE

Medical statistics tell us that blemished skin usually occurs from adolescence on through adult life. The problem at the adolescent stage is serious enough to deserve attentive care as a family matter. In adulthood, when life's responsibilities are so much weightier, it is doubly important to exert great effort to eliminate these blemishes. And, there is no better time to get pimples under control than now.

DON'T ABUSE SKIN

The first instinctive reaction to pimples and blackheads is to squeeze them out with your fingers. A bit of experimentation along these lines soon provides convincing proof that this succeeds only in inflaming your skin and spreading the infection. Under no circumstances should pimples and blackheads ever be squeezed.

MICROSCOPE SHOWS IMPORTANT BASIS FOR EXTERNALLY CAUSED PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

Let's take a look through the microscope to see what's behind those unsightly pimples. The high-powered lenses show your skin coated with a covering which originated from two sources—one, internally and the other, externally.

The internal substances on your skin include dead cells, residue from the sweat glands, and a high quantity of oil excreted by the sebaceous glands. A most important factor in skin disorders occurs when thousands of these tiny sebaceous glands discharge more oil than the skin can use for lubrication. Unless special care is given, the oil forms a heavy film which attracts foreign matter to your skin much as any oil mop picks up dust. These infectious external substances may be classified into three general groups:

1. Airborne materials such as dust, pollens, condensation products of smoke, vapors, etc.
2. Materials brought in contact with the skin, such as tiny fragments of clothing, bedding, cosmetics.
3. Micro-organisms such as bacteria and fungi

See the difference between a healthy skin and a pimply skin in the microscopic reproductions below.

A. Normal skin

B. Sick, pimply skin

Diagram A shows a normal-size, smoothly functioning sebaceous gland. Diagram B pictures sick, pimply skin. Notice that the sebaceous gland is a swollen mass of trapped oil, waste and infectious bacteria.

TRY THIS SENSIBLE WAY

Two sensible aims to achieve in controlling this skin condition are: to clear the pores of clogging matter, and to inhibit the excessive oiliness of the skin. Toward these ends, Dornol Products' research makes available two formulas. One is to aid in thorough cleansing by highly detergent penetration which simplifies the removal of waste and foreign matter. The other is to discourage oiliness with clinically-proved ingredients, and to kill infectious bacteria often associated with externally caused pimples and blackheads.

BLEMISHES COVERED UP

To remove the distressing embarrassment of these skin blemishes, the second Dornol formula exerts a "cover-up" action on your broken out skin while the medication does its work. This, plus its pleasant odor, will spare you the mental distress which is associated with unsightly, malodorous, medicated preparations. Imagine! You can apply this Dornol formula to your skin by day and face the immediate present with greater confidence in your appearance, while secure in the knowledge that medication is acting to remove old blemishes and keep away new ones. What this "cover-up" action alone is worth in peace of mind is beyond calculation. No longer need prying eyes make you wince with humiliation and misery. Now because of this wonderful feature of the Dornol treatment, you can put your best foot forward ... at once!

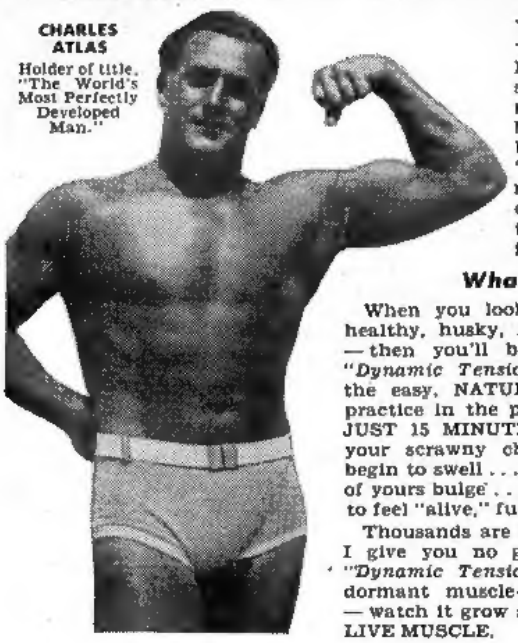
AND HE USED TO BE SO SKINNY!

I Can Make YOU a New Man, Too, In Only 15 Minutes a Day!



CHARLES ATLAS
Holder of title, "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man."

PEOPLE used to laugh at my skinny 97-pound body. I was ashamed to strip for sports or for a swim. Girls made fun of me behind my back. THEN I discovered my body-building system, "Dynamic Tension." It made me such a complete specimen of manhood that I hold the title, "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man."

What's My Secret?

When you look in the mirror and see a healthy, husky, fellow smiling back at you — then you'll be astonished at how fast "Dynamic Tension" GETS RESULTS! It is the easy, NATURAL method and you can practice in the privacy of your own room — JUST 15 MINUTES EACH DAY. Just watch your scrawny chest and shoulder muscles begin to swell . . . those spindly arms and legs of yours bulge . . . and your whole body starts to feel "alive," full of zip and go!

Thousands are becoming husky — my way. I give you no gadgets to fool with. With "Dynamic Tension" you simply utilize the dormant muscle-power in your own body — watch it grow and multiply into real, solid LIVE MUSCLE.

FREE My 48 Page Illustrated Book is Yours — Not for $1.00 or 10c — But FREE

Send for my book, Everlasting Health and Strength. 48 pages of photos, valuable advice. Shows what Dynamic Tension can do, answers vital questions.
